建议信

题目 Your friend wants to travel to a city but he/she doesn't have enough money. You have to give him/her suggestions about what and where can he/she enjoy. Also some recommendation for accommodation. (一级命中)

大作文:

同类范文：2014年6月21号

An increasing number of people are changing their jobs. What do you think are the reasons? Do you think it is positive or negative?

Today, we may not be surprised to see that people are frequently changing their occupations. Various reasons contribute to such a development, but I believe that daily increasing life stress is mainly responsible for this.

People tend to seek for jobs with higher pay as a result of increasingly higher financial burden. In many countries around the world, house prices have surged to an astonishing level, which makes it more difficult for people to make ends meet and support their families. For example, in my hometown, people can no longer afford things they were able to purchase ten years ago with the same amount of money. So it is easy to understand that people may not hesitate to change their jobs when another organization offers a higher salary and better incentives.

Moving from one job to another could make an individual more competitive in a range of different fields. Different organizations have different cultures, strategies and challenges, which may provide people with opportunities to acquire various skills. For instance, when a successful businessperson becomes a college professor in economics, he may have more real-time experiences to share with his students compared to those who have never stepped into the business world. Moreover, modern lifestyles mean more diverse challenges in all walks of life, so it is more difficult to achieve success in the job market. Staying at the same organization and doing the same things over and over may restrict people's chances to achieve diversity in their career.

In essence, I believe that people should be encouraged to change their jobs as long as it is better for their personal development. Diversity in job competence brings more jobs prospects and changing occupations is the best way to gain this.
