

托福写作常见开头模板：复合增强式

5. “复合增强、人以群分式”

Being grouped人以群分（一）

(1) What is education in present-day society? Some people still cling to the idea that education means going to schools or colleges. In their eyes the sole purpose of the scholastic education is to secure good jobs and guarantee a life-long well-being. However, such traditional conception of education has been rejected as outdated by more and more people, who view education as a life-long process. Personally, I side with the latter, in the belief that the new concept of education makes a great deal of sense to modern people.

(2) Many people suppose/ contend that... But what they fail to see is...

(3) There are generally/ mainly/ primarily two points of view on... Some believe that... Others hold the view that...

(4) When asked about/ When it comes to/ Faced with/..., many people believe that...

(5) When it comes to keeping pets, opinions differ from person to person. Some people think keeping pets is a good thing to do. Others, however, hold the opposite view. They regard keeping pets as a useless but harmful thing to do.

(6) When asked a question about the history of their country, most college students will simply return a blank stare. This worrisome trend leads to a fear that history will be forgotten by young people. But many people have set out to come up with solutions to such a problem.

Being grouped人以群分（二）

(1) People's opinions are always different once they talk about job-hunting. Some..., while others...

(2) There has been much talk recently about... Some... While others...

(3) There is no consensus of opinion among people as to face fate.

(4) There is no consensus of opinion among people as to the role/ view/ idea of the experiments on animals. Some people claim that..., while others believe that...

(5) In most households, children are given some amount of pocket money as allowance. Some people say that it is very dangerous to let children have money and spend it, while others believe that giving pocket money to children reflects the trust and love of the parents.