(1) Personally, I think that the development of cheap commercial travel should be seen by most people as a positive thing, because its advantages outweigh its disadvantages.

(2) Personally, I think that guided tours are perfect for people who want to have a relaxing and easygoing tour on holiday. But for people who are more adventurous, perhaps going it alone offers more chances for excitement.

(3) Personally, I think that all the ways to learn about a country, from visiting museums to talking to its people, are acceptable, and that the optimal way depends on who the traveler is. But I agree that visiting museums is the most helpful and dependable way to gain more understanding about a country.
