建议措施

(1) The best way to attract talent in any field is to offer a competitive pay package. If we can show the world that teaching is a well-paid profession, in addition to a noble and respectable one, then more people will want to be teachers and schools will have more and better choices. Then we can say that we truly invest in our future.

(2) Certainly, there are alternatives such as education and ineffective social security. However, now that the trend has been seen, the point would be the avenues. A possible solution is that news organization should give harsher punishment to the unhealthy contents in media. Besides, young people should be asked to go for some games or voluntary work, which might make them learn to help and respect others.
